keep the rich people from doing their shopping away from Richmond; neither can New York, nor Philadelphia, nor Baltimore. That is a universal fact. The geographical configuration of Virginia limits the extent of our outstretching for trade. Consequently, we must build up the buying population of Richmond. There is but one sure way to do that, and that is by increasing the number of factories and factory employes in this city."

Mr. Cohen made these statements during a debate on plans for bringing more retail trade to Richmond. He indorsed the more spectacular plans of trade extension, and admitted their usefulness, but the solution of the problem he asserted to be manufacturing growth.

"Richmond has run squarely into a stone wall in her growth," he continued. "If our laws will not allow us to give free manufacturing sites, then we must change our laws. Furthermore, no one can hope to bring manufacturing plants here until the housing problem has been solved. We must provide decent, comfortable homes for workers at reasonable rents. "The Chamber of Commerce is now organizing a company to subscribe $209,009 for building comfortable brick, electric lighted homes, to be rented for $18 and $20 a month. When we bring factories and factory workers in this city we will have solved the problem of increasing our buying population."

Plan Trade Campaign.

Mr. Cohen's remarks were received with applause by the retail merchants, who appeared heartily in accord with the plan to have the city give free sites to manufacturing plants desiring to locate in Richmond. Ideas for the advancement of Richmond's retail trade were freely offered, and the discussion of this problem occupied most of the regular quarterly meeting of the association. The merchants met for dinaer in Cole's Cafe and afterward pushed back their chairs and plunged into business.

Women's Christian Association to pay women's Christian Association to pay their subscriptions promptly has resiously embarrassed the committee which has in charge the erection of the handsome new home of the association on Fifth Street. Payments amounting to $35,000 are overdue, and unless the committee succeeds in collecting these pledges, work on the new building will have to be suspended. The atructure has now risen to the fourth styry, and most of the exterior work is completed. The contract provides for its completion by February 1, 1914.

Following the whirlwind campaign for a fund to build a new Young Women's Christian Association home, the committee immediately proceeded with the work of construction, trusting implicitly in the good faith of the public to redeem the pledges made in the campaign. Issue Urgent Appeal.

In the hope of waking subscribers to the seriousness of the situation, the committee has just sent out a strong appeal to those whose pledges have not been redeemed. While stating that it is consident that the subscriptions completed, will be the largest and best armory south of Washington. In addition to the co-operation of practically all of the local line and staff officers, Lieutenant Splatt has received assurances of support from all over the State. The Bryan estate some time ago filed a petition in Henrico County for a refund of tax assessment, which was held to have been croneous. A recent ruling by the Siprical Court gave the State the right to inquire whether persons claiming erroneous assessment had made proper returns to the State, it was on this ruling that the Bryan books were ordered produced in court.
